EXPERIENCE

When Kathleen was growing up, her father used to tell her, "You know why I like to buy land? Because God doesn't make it anymore." Having grown up in a family that taught her how to count in square footage before she could master the multiplication table, you could say that real estate is in her blood. Though she was born in Los Angeles, she was raised in the urban jungle of Manila, Philippines, and has spent time in Hong Kong, Thailand, Singapore, and Korea. It's no wonder then that the concrete streets, and the energy and diversity of New York City felt familiar to her right away. With almost a decade of experience in real estate management, luxury fashion, and lifestyle journalism, she is excited to connect with people of discerning tastes all over the city. At night, she cools her heels in Brooklyn, but during the day, you can find her flitting from the Lower East Side all the way to the Upper East Side, with pit stops in SoHo, the West Village, and the Meatpacking District. There's nothing she loves more than a challenge, so if you're looking for the precious square feet to call your own in the city, you've taken a step in the right direction.
